

UC-UNCC SPANISH LANGUAGE AND CULTURE

The UC-UNCC Spanish Language and Culture Study Abroad Program is a tailor-made program designed by the Department of Philology of the UC for the students of the University of North Carolina at Charlotte that takes place twice a year: from early September to early December during the Fall term, and from early February to early May during the Spring term.

This is the oldest Study Abroad program run by the University of Cantabria (25+ years old), and it focuses on Spanish language and culture. The students take Intensive Spanish courses and courses on Spanish culture (History, Art and Geography, Culture) for a total of 120 class hours. They are also able to enjoy immersion in Spanish culture by living in Spanish host families and travelling around Spain (Cantabria, Asturias, Barcelona, Madrid).
